

Title: Innovation Manager
Location: Brisbane, Australia
Function: Growth
Details: Full-Time, Permanent

EDL owns and operates a global portfolio of power stations in Australia, North America and Europe. Our vision is to be the leading global producer of sustainable distributed energy. At EDL, we are playing a key role in the world's transition from traditional energy sources to decarbonised solutions. With the combination of organic growth projects and key acquisition targets, EDL is a dynamic organisation capitalising on its extensive portfolio of growth opportunities. With ambitious growth targets, EDL is looking to appoint an Innovation Manager as a key member of its Growth Team. This position is based in the Brisbane Office.

Reporting to the Head of Growth, this position is ultimately responsible for:

- Developing and implementing the Innovation and Technology Strategy,
- Identifying and evaluating new technologies that are practical, commercially viable and consistent with the growth strategy,
- Keeping abreast with an open mind of innovation and trends in the energy market,
- Setting clear objectives, priorities and driving projects forward to achieve desired results,
- Working with the senior management team to develop and review the commercial aspects of new technology in relation to contractual, technical, operational and financial risks, and evaluate tender opportunities,
- Leading and developing a team of technical specialists focusing on continual improvement,
- Championing innovation and technology internally across the business, challenging the status quo and positioning the innovation team as a valuable business partner,
- Building positive relationships with internal and external customers, networking and participating in relevant forums.

To be considered for this pivotal position, you will have a deep-rooted interest in innovation and technology in energy. You will possess a blended skillset encompassing expertise in technical, operational, financial and commercial strategy and analysis in a highly complex and competitive environment. Your ability to maintain healthy relationships, be proactive and understand customer needs is crucial. With proven leadership experience and the ability to develop and motivate a multidisciplinary team, you will ideally be tertiary qualified within Engineering, Finance, Commerce or a related discipline. Your success and key achievements in similar positions, coupled with excellent communication and writing skills, will be highly regarded.

EDL is an employer of choice who has an exceptional safety record and takes pride in their values and their contemporary diversity policy. On offer for the successful candidate is a competitive salary package with a performance-related bonus.
